UNIVERSITY EDUCATION IN ALBANIA

The Canadian Institute of Technology (CIT) is a private higher education institution located in Tirana, the capital of Albania, offering predominantly English-medium education to international students. The university offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the fields of technology, engineering, business, and economics.

The language of instruction at CIT is English. This facilitates students' access to international academic resources while contributing to their preparation for global business and education opportunities after graduation.

The university provides education in a modern campus environment in Tirana, offering its students laboratories, technological infrastructure, and applied learning opportunities.

It is among the preferred institutions, particularly in fields such as software engineering, computer engineering, business administration, and finance.

Thanks to its structure being open to students from different countries, CIT offers a multicultural learning environment. In addition to academic education, it contributes to the social and professional development of students through student clubs, events, and activities that support career development.

For students who wish to receive an education in English in Albania and study in technology-oriented departments, the Canadian Institute of Technology is one of the options worth considering.

UNIVERSITY EDUCATION IN CZECHIA

Czechia, which joined the European Union in 2004 and integrated rapidly into the EU across almost every field, has implemented the Bologna process and ECTS in education, taking a major step forward by providing diplomas valid throughout the EU.

The fact that Czech universities do not charge tuition fees for international students who choose to study in the Czech language presents a significant advantage for students who wish to receive high-quality university education in their desired field within an EU member state but have limited economic means. By choosing Czech as your language of instruction following your preparatory year, you can take advantage of the opportunity for free education.

UNIVERSITY EDUCATION IN THE UK

A Pioneering Experience in Education.

As we all know, the British education system commands immense respect in the international arena.

Receiving an education in the United Kingdom—a country that has adapted to every era for centuries, closely followed innovations, and often spearheaded them—will be a great privilege for you. Studying in this country means gaining the opportunity to reach the pinnacle of your career within modern educational environments at some of the world's most prestigious universities.

Furthermore, thanks to advantages such as the support provided to students and the opportunity to complete undergraduate education in as little as three years, you will achieve the career of your dreams at a lower cost.

UNIVERSITY EDUCATION IN CYPRUS

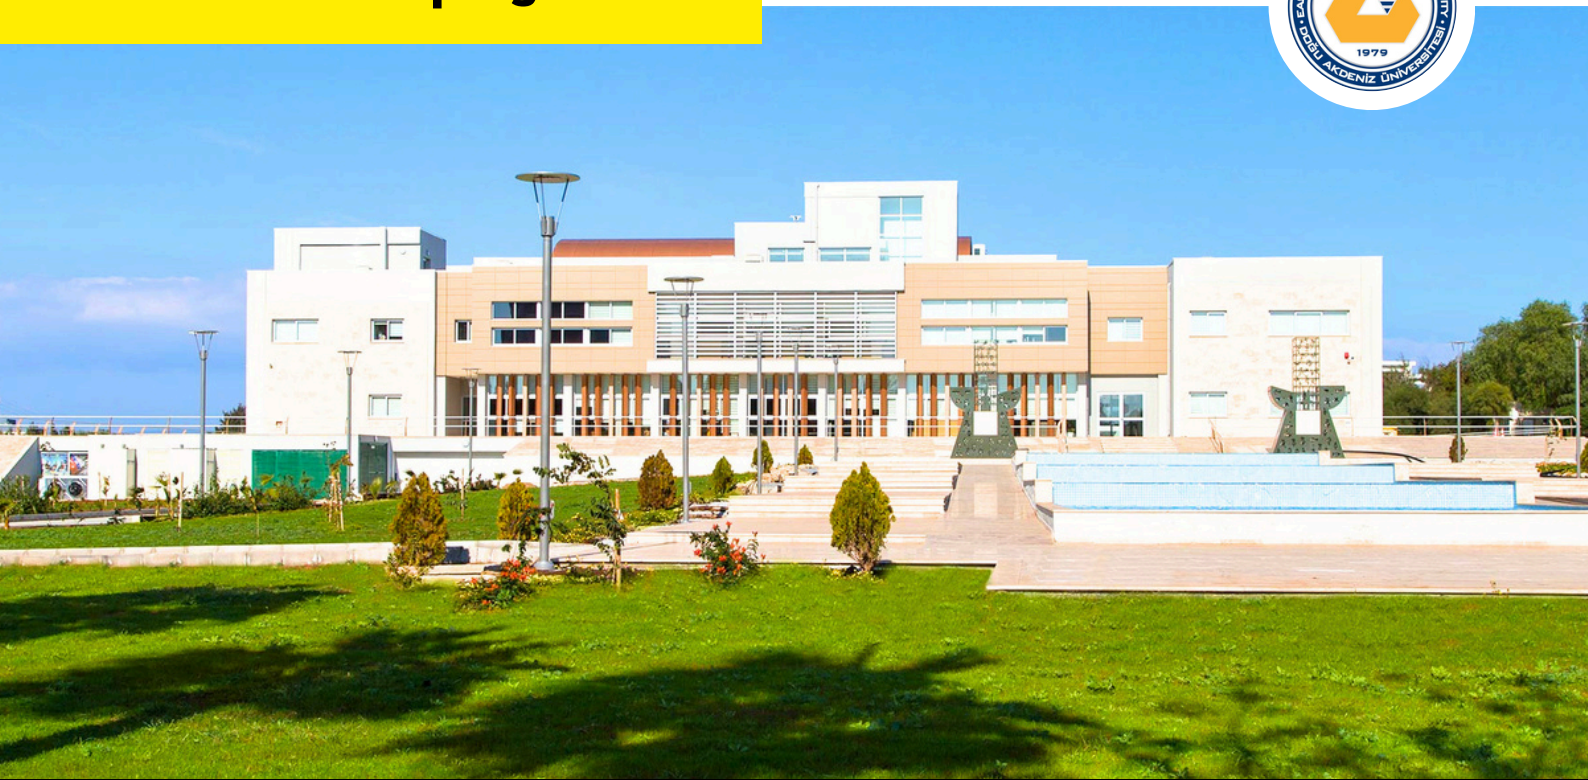

Eastern Mediterranean University, located in Northern Cyprus, is a well-established higher education institution that offers predominantly English-medium education to international students. The university offers undergraduate and graduate programs in various academic fields, providing education in many departments such as engineering, business, architecture, communication, education, and health sciences.

Various programs of the university have been evaluated and accredited by international accreditation bodies such as ABET, FIBAA, AQAS, and others. This supports the compliance of specific programs with international academic standards.

Reliable education with accredited programs

The language of instruction at Eastern Mediterranean University is English for many programs. Preparatory program options are also offered for students who do not have English proficiency. Additionally, students can benefit from study abroad opportunities through exchange programs, depending on their department and eligibility.

Hosting students from various countries, the university offers an educational environment that supports social development alongside academic life with its multicultural campus structure and student clubs. With its modern campus facilities, library, research centers, and social areas, Eastern Mediterranean University is one of the options worth considering for students aiming for education abroad.

UNIVERSITY EDUCATION IN NORTH MACEDONIA

Equivalency

Most Macedonian universities are recognized by the European Union and the Council of Higher Education. Provided you meet the necessary requirements, you can apply to YÖK upon returning to Turkey. You can receive education in any department of your choice, within quota limits, based on your high school diploma and the courses you have taken.

In addition to the country's inherent multiculturalism, the presence of students from many countries worldwide—especially from neighboring regions—ensures a multicultural international student life. Due to its proximity to Turkey, it is easily accessible by both plane and bus.

UNIVERSITY EDUCATION IN SERBIA

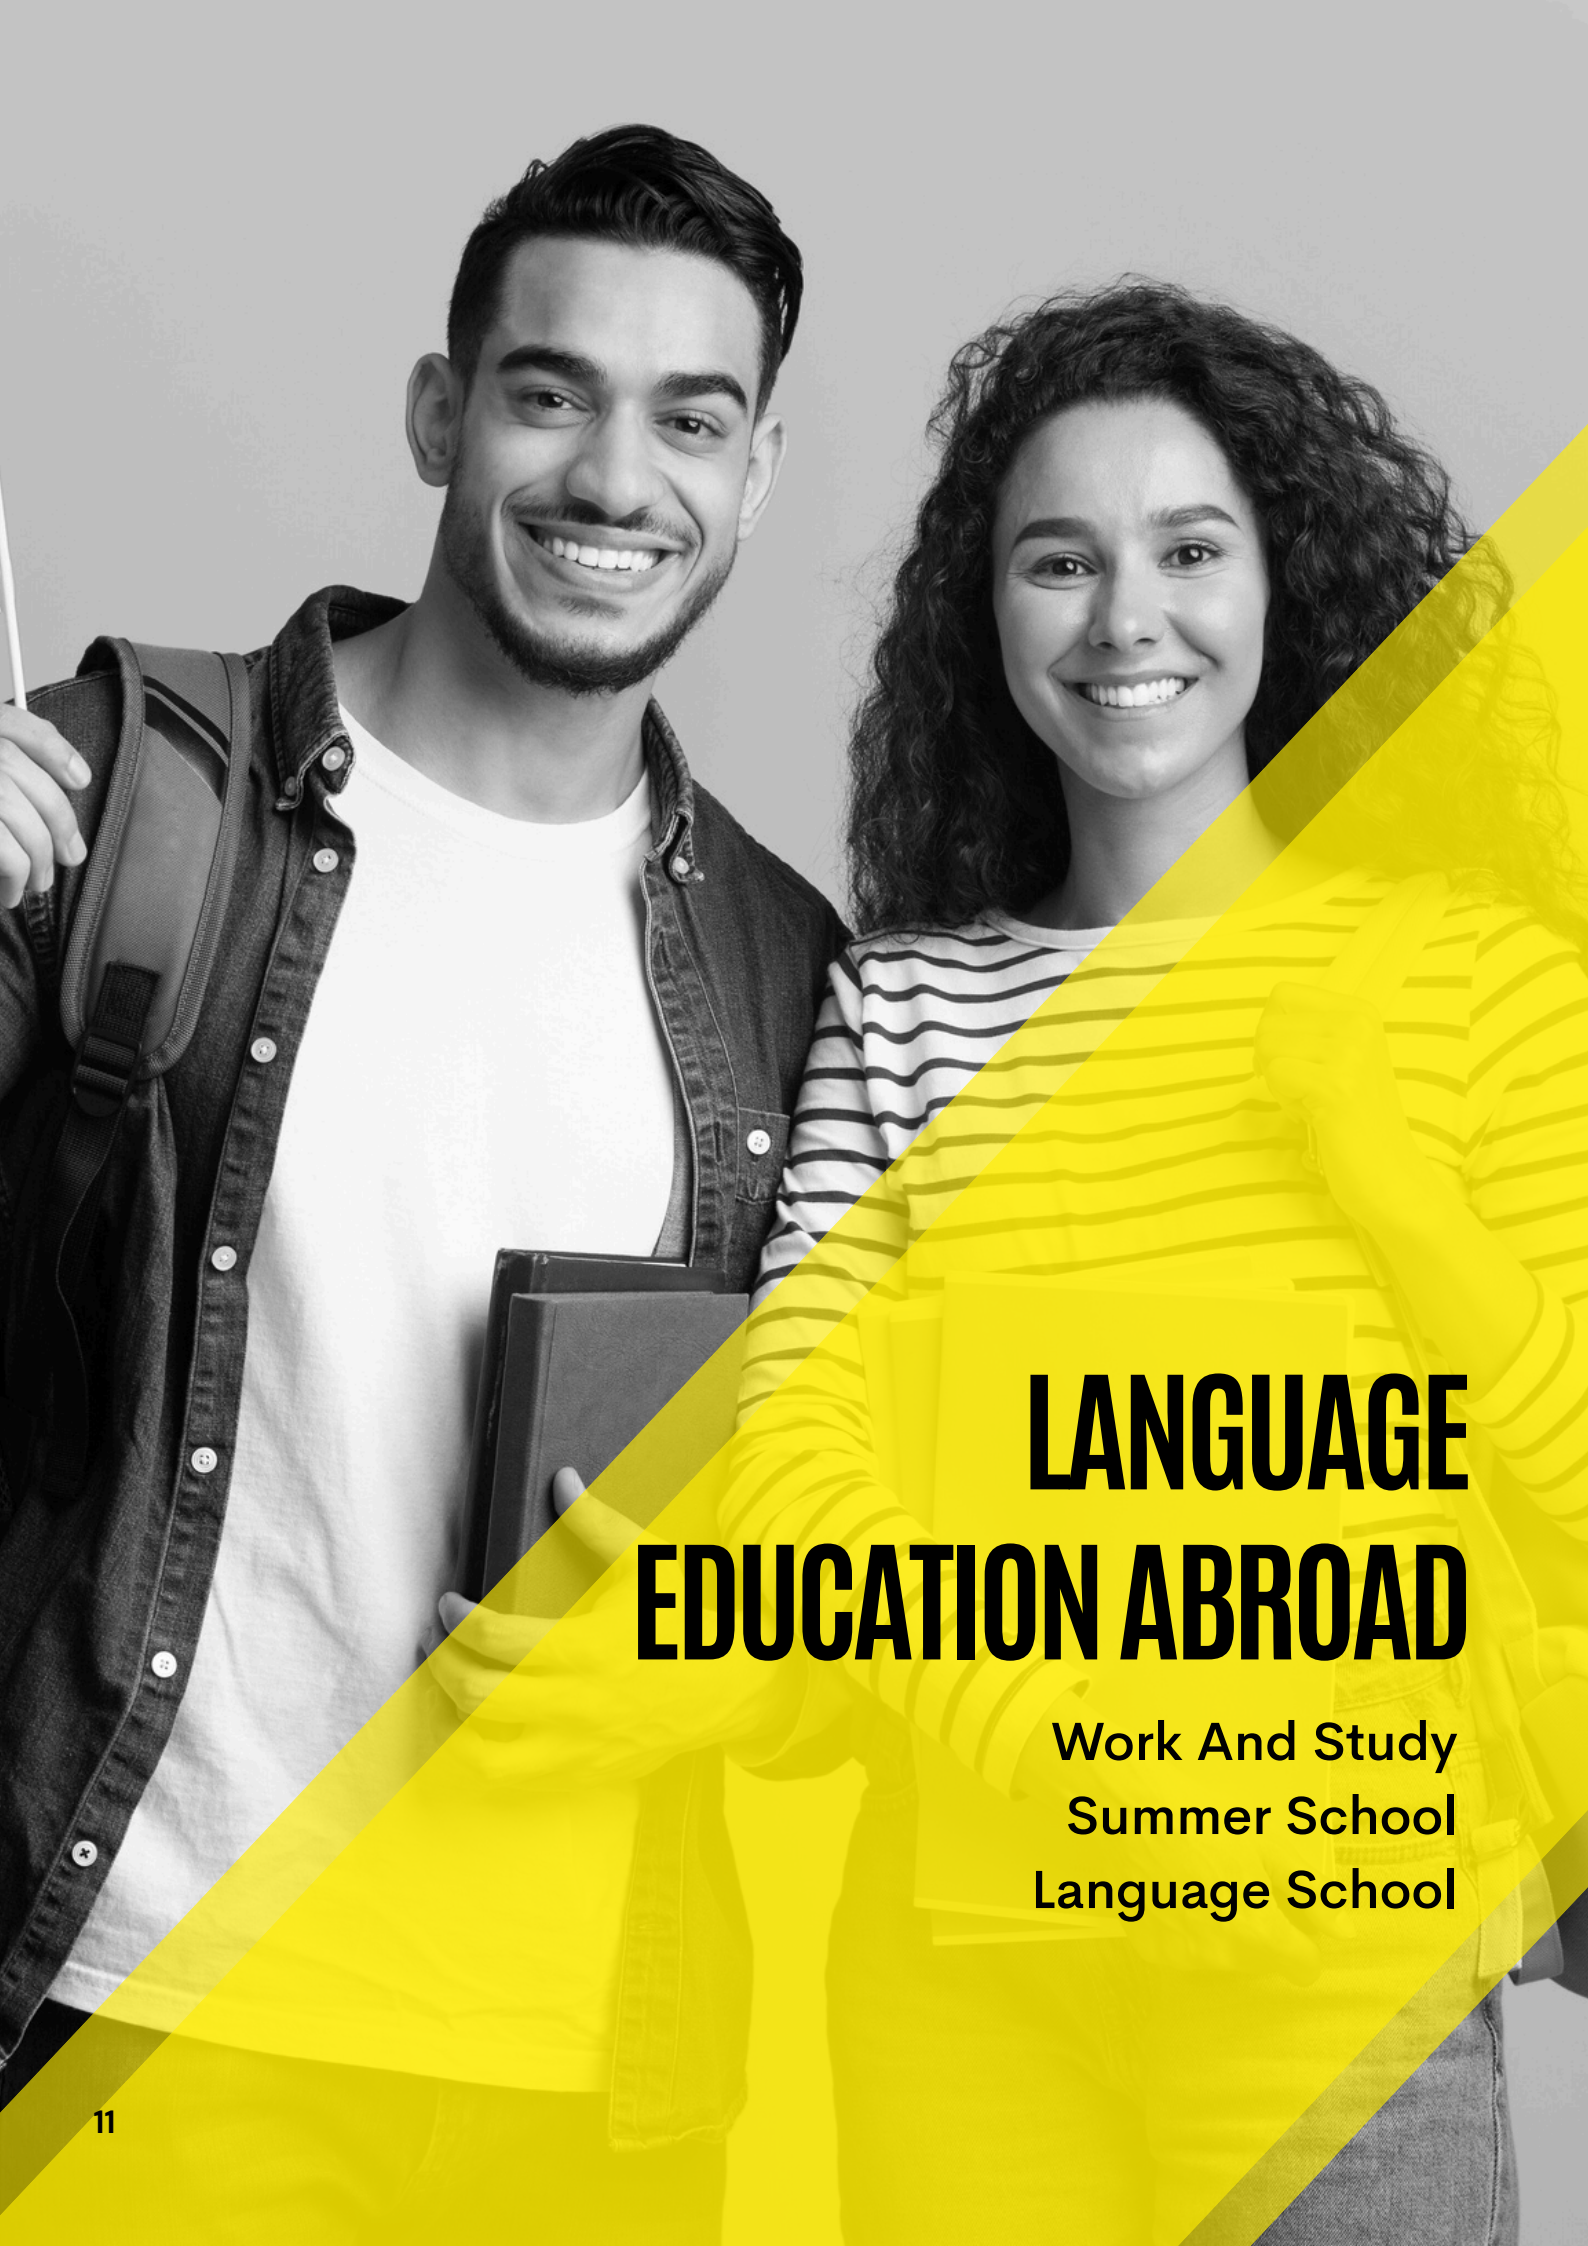

University Education and Program Selection in Serbia, Serbia is a prominent country in the field of education, offering various advantages for international students. The University of Belgrade and the University of Novi Sad provide high-quality education and hold high positions in world rankings.

While the University of Belgrade consistently ranks high in the QS World University Rankings each year, the University of Novi Sad is ranked among the top 300 in the fields of engineering and medicine.

Tuition fees for health-related departments range between 3,500 and 9,000 Euros, while other departments, such as engineering, offer international standard education to students at more affordable costs. Turkish students can directly begin their undergraduate studies based on their language proficiency or participate in preparatory programs. Additionally, universities in Serbia offer students opportunities to study in other European countries through Erasmus+ and double degree programs.

LANGUAGE SCHOOL IN THE UK

The United Kingdom is one of the most popular destinations for students wishing to receive language education, thanks to having one of the world's most deep-rooted education systems and being the birthplace of the English language. Language schools located in cities such as London, Manchester, Brighton, Oxford, and Cambridge offer program options suitable for different age groups and levels.

Language schools in the UK enable students to practice English not only in the classroom but also within daily life. This allows students to improve both their academic and daily English skills in a short period of time. There are many different education options available, such as General English, Intensive English, IELTS preparation, Academic English, and summer school programs.

During their language education, students study on modern campuses while also gaining the opportunity to meet students from different cultures. Thanks to social activities, city tours, and cultural events organized by the schools, students both enjoy an unforgettable experience abroad and improve their self-confidence.

With its high-quality education approach, international environment, and student-oriented system, UK language schools offer a powerful option for students looking to invest in their future.

LANGUAGE SCHOOL IN CZECHIA

The Czech Republic has recently become one of the most prominent countries in Europe for international students seeking education. Especially through university preparation (Foundation) programs and language education options, students gain the opportunity to strengthen their academic foundation and adapt to the European education system.

Foundation programs help students improve their English levels, enhance their academic skills, and prepare for university education. In addition to English language training, program curricula generally include courses geared toward the student's target department. Preparation options are offered for various fields such as business, engineering, health sciences, social sciences, and technology.

Students who successfully complete the program can choose to continue their undergraduate studies at universities in the Czech Republic. They also gain an advantage when transferring to different universities across Europe. This process contributes to both the academic and personal development of students, establishing a strong foundation for an international career.

With its modern city life, safe environment, central European location, and student-friendly atmosphere, the Czech Republic stands out as one of the ideal choices for language education and university preparation programs.

International Yelken Education Consultancy

As Yelken Education Consultancy, we offer consultancy services for student admissions from Turkey to educational institutions in various countries worldwide, as well as from other countries to educational institutions in Turkey. Thanks to our representatives in 27 different countries and the strong communication network we have established with these countries, we actively manage student referral and registration processes. In addition to private universities operating throughout Turkey, we provide effective services in placing students in more than 30 public universities.

Furthermore, we have established a cooperation with Ankara University regarding the TÖMER exam, which is required for international students wishing to study in Turkey. In this regard, besides offering the TÖMER exam online, we also provide face-to-face exam options within Turkey and in various other countries. Since the exam results are accepted as valid by all universities, we are able to provide our students with accurate and comprehensive guidance services when the registration period begins.
